

Modern Street Lights Ordered for Broadway And Downtown Section

New System Will Be Same as Recently Installed in Uptown Business District, Plans Indicate.

INCREASED LIGHT

Downtown Will Get 19,000 Candlepower Increase, Broadway, 62,800 Candlepower.

A new and modern street lighting system for the downtown business district and Broadway, similar to the system recently installed in the uptown business district, was ordered at a special meeting of the Board of Public Works on Friday afternoon. Mayor C. J. Seiselman, president of the public works board, who presided at the meeting stated that the downtown business district system would likely be installed and ready for operation about October 15.

The action taken by the public works board Friday followed out the recommendation outlined by Mayor Seiselman in a communication to the Common Council recently in which he recommended that the council adopt a local law imposing a one per cent utility tax on public utilities. The mayor at that time stated the new tax would bring in a revenue estimated at about $12,000, and suggested that the money so raised be used in helping to defray the cost of better street lighting.

Representatives of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation met with Mayor Seiselman and the public works board when the entire question was discussed and action taken. Following the conference between the corporation representatives the board ordered the installation of new poles and lights for the downtown business district, extending from Broadway at Pierpont street to Ferry street, and on East Strand, between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenue. The installation will increase the number of new lights and poles by 43, an increase of 19,000 candlepower in the downtown business district.

Ready October 15.

The poles for the installation have been ordered and it is expected that the poles and lights will be installed and ready for operation by October 15. With the installation of the new poles and lights all of the present wood and iron poles will be taken down as well as the present overhead wires in the business district.

The board also ordered the installation of five new lights around Academy Park, and the new street lighting system will be extended down Broadway, from Maiden Lane to East Pierpont street, and the present 600 candlepower lamps on Broadway will add 11 new 1,000 candlepower lamps on Broadway from Chestnut street to Pierpont street. The new lights will increase the candlepower on Broadway by 62,800.

The installing of the new poles on Broadway from Maiden Lane to Pierpont street will be deferred to 1938, but Broadway will receive the benefit of increased lighting this year when the present 600 candlepower lamps are replaced by the 1,000 candlepower lamps.

Mayor Seiselman said that he planned to continue his campaign to give the city better street lighting until all of the present unsightly wood and iron poles are removed from the streets.

The installation that has been ordered for the downtown business section and Broadway will make additional safety to pedestrians and traffic, and both the uptown and downtown business districts as well as the central business district along Broadway will be better lighted when the entire new system is in operation. Since the new system was installed in the uptown business district it has added greatly to the appearance of the streets at night.

The action taken by the public works board on Friday is following out the mayor's promise to have improved lighting on Broadway and downtown.

WANTS ARMS INDUSTRY TO BE NATIONALIZED

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—A delegate to the Veterans of Foreign Wars national encampment promised today to ask his ex-soldier comrades to vote on a resolution endorsing the nationalization of the arms industry.

Millard W. Rice, Washington, D. C. legislative representative said he would introduce the proposal "as a step to prevent the sales of armaments to nations which threaten the peace of the United States."

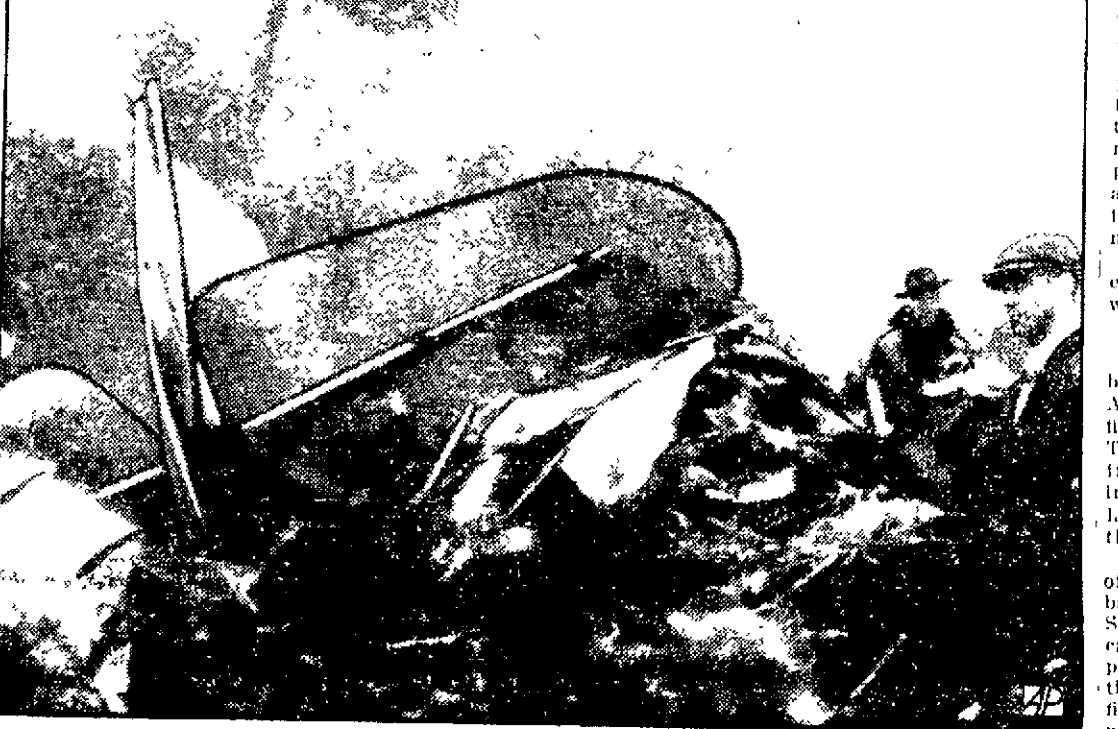

Meanwhile from the Dominion of Canada came a re-statement of international good will when the Canadian legion turned over an American cannon captured in the year of 1812 to the Buffalo Historical society.

The rusty sub-nosed field piece will occupy a spot of prominence in the convention's monster parade Tuesday.

ASSEMBLYMAN, THREE OTHERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

New York State Assemblyman Pritchard H. Strong, wealthy Rochester aviation enthusiast, his wife and two other companions were killed when their plane crashed a mile from the Albany airport during a fog and rain. Clarence Robinson of Rochester piloted the plane and the fourth passenger was Charles H. Hudson, Rochester investment counsel. These pictures show the badly twisted wreckage.

Old Stage Coach Rides Stamford Road Again

Stamford, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Hootbeats out of the past echoed today along the old clay turnpike from Delhi to Stamford as a venerable stagecoach which saw service more than a century ago came out of a museum to traverse once more the scenes of its heyday.

Four stampanag horses, brought from the 800-acre farmstead of a descendant of Delaware county pioneers who once rode the old coaching route, waited ready to draw the stage on its 20-mile journey, timed by a modern stopwatch.

The trip will be made against a background of pageantry, in which village officials and school children will participate. Mayor Clarence W. Hill, of Delhi, will make the trip with the coach, bearing greetings which he will deliver to Mayor James E. Churchill, of Stamford in front of the old Delaware inn, built in 1790 as an over-night stop on the old Pike System.

A parade through the streets of Stamford will be followed by a dinner at which an honor guest will be William S. Scobie, now of Stamford, but formerly of Great Neck, L. I., who in his early days made a trip by coach over the Ligonier Pike from Pittsburgh to Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

Dr. Akin attacked as "absurd" a statement by Dr. Grieshaber, who was making his first trip as the Hansa's ship doctor, that he believed nausea symptoms among the sick seamen were only the effects of fumigating gas.

"Of the 54 liners granted the radio practice privilege since this expedition system became effective February 1, last, these ships made 552 arrivals," Dr. Akin said, "and this is the first serious violation of its kind by any ship's surgeon of any nationality."

"We intend to make an example of this surgeon. From now on he will never be eligible on any ship to obtain radio practice, and the liner Hansa will be barred from passing through quarantine for an indefinite period."

President May Make a Western Trip This Fall

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Informed sources let it be known today that the chances were good for President Roosevelt making a western trip this fall.

Summer White House officials, meanwhile, would neither confirm nor deny a report by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer that the Chief Executive definitely was planning a cross-country journey to obtain "first-hand" information on New Deal "accomplishments" in the northwest.

In the absence of confirmation from the President himself, all they would say was that such a trip has been under consideration.

At his press conference in Washington last Friday the President said he had made no engagements beyond Sept. 17.

Franco "Destroys" 3 Battalions Near Zaragoza Sector

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 28 (AP)—Spanish insurgents reported today they had "destroyed" three battalions of government troops attacking their concentration at Zaragoza, strategic intersection of lines between Valencia and Barcelona and the insurgents' latest prize of war, Santander on the Bay of Biscay.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, in a communique, asserted his insurgent detachments of the old capital of Aragon, now one of his most important bases, had repulsed all enemy attacks. The enemy, he said, had left 12,000 dead in Burela, a few miles to the north.

The government, however, reported that in a day of active fighting, with warplanes and artillery taking terrible toll of enemy ranks, government troops occupied Zuera, Puebla de Albornoz and other enemy fortified positions in a great enveloping movement on the Aragon front.

Insurgent casualties and prisoners taken, the government said, were "enormous" in number.

Intense Heat

The government forces, parched by 110-degree heat, drove their Aragon offensive forward with fierce fighting, Valencia reported. They sought to isolate Zaragoza from Teruel to the south, another insurgent stronghold. Six villages fell to the government in this thrust, it claimed.

The insurgents claimed capture of 11 battalions. Small insurgent bands combed the sector west of Santander and declared they had captured groups of government prisoners and quantities of munitions. One former Basque airfield yielded insurgents 30 airplane motors, the Franco communique said.

Santander itself, quiet after its virtual surrender, was taken over completely by insurgents who promptly acted to utilize its excellent harbors, fine minerals, and rich farm and woodland—all of them spared the havoc of war.

Speculation Arises In U. S. Demand to Chinese, Japanese

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Official Washington appraised today implications arising from a flat United States demand that Japan and China respect American rights in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

A formal note told both nations they will be held responsible and accountable for any personal injuries or property loss their soldiers inflict on American nationals.

Secretary Hull sent the note yesterday, stating unequivocally that this nation, while pursuing its traditional policy of peace, will surrender no rights or privileges the United States holds in China by international treaty.

Hull also called on consular officials at Shanghai to give him full details of reported Japanese intentions to throw a "peaceful blockade" around China ports.

Consuls had sent incomplete information supporting press dispatches that Japan was preparing to halt the movement of Chinese vessels.

This information indicated ships of other nations were not to be molested but, to make this point certain, Hull asked clarification.

Should Japan's plans be so all-inclusive as to threaten American ships, State Department observers said, grave international complications could develop immediately.

Freighter May Cause Test

A freighter reported leaving Baltimore with a cargo of airplanes for China may provide the actual test of whether Japan will attempt to stop an American vessel.

HEAVY WEATHER PREVENTS SEARCH FOR SOVIET FLYERS

Barrow, Alaska, Aug. 28 (AP)—Heavy weather along the Arctic rim prevented extensive search for the six missing Soviet trans-polar flyers.

Rain and fog apparently were general from here southward to Coppermine, N. W. T., where Sir Hubert Wilkins, in a huge third flight into the far north, flying boat, planned to make a No word was received from Moscow concerning three Russian planes last reported on the north Russian coast awaiting better weather to continue to Alaska. They will follow the course taken by Sir Hubert Wilkins and his two companions on a projected flight to Oakland, Calif. The six disappeared August 13.

Auto Union Votes $400,000 Chest To Organize Ford

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 28 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America mapped a "vigorous and continuous" campaign today to organize the 125,000 Ford Motor Co. employees, and pledged a $400,000 war chest to finance it.

Whipped to an enthusiastic peak by the leadership of a peace-making influence of their dynamic CIO chief, John L. L. was the UAW convention delegates prepared machinery for a drive against the "only outstanding automobile corporation that has not been unionized."

C.I.O. Wins Election

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Henry J. Winters, regional head of the national labor relations board, announced today the Committee for Industrial Organization had won a collective bargaining election at a strike-closed meat packing plant.

Employees at the Dold and Hygrade companies voted better than two to one for the C. I. O. in an election conducted by his staff, Winters said.

Fashions and Household Hints for Women

Paris Exposition Gives Models Blank Faces-But What Gowns

By ALICE MAXWELL

Paris, (AP).—Tomorrow's modernism is on view in the forms and the frocks that fill the Pavillon de l'Elegance where top-notch dressmakers of the French capital are staging their own big show, in the midst of the Exposition.

The forms are made of plaster in bisque pink. They are elongated mannequins that strike unusual attitudes, some reclining, others standing with raised arms. They have no features, just round plaster faces. Coiffures, however, are coiled and curled to the last plaster hair.

Nudism Enters

Only two or three mannequins are allotted each exhibitor. All are costumed for evening.

The reclining forms have wide-spread frocks spread over the floor like Gargantuan fans.

The slim upright figures are crisscrossed around and around with sculptured draperies that are finished in scarf-like ends that sweep the ground.

Nudism, too, plays its part.

Schiaparelli's plaster model wears a coverlet of flowers—and leaves her printed frock, straw hat and red sandals on a plaster chair nearby.

PLASTER IN PARIS

This is one of the ultra-modern mannequins displayed at the Paris exposition. Chanel garbed it. The elaborate sash is of black-bordered green moire ribbon. An old-fashioned fan masks the plaster figure's bisque-pink cheek.

The bisque-pink limbs of Lanvin's reclining mannequin are plainly visible through a petticoatless skirt of champagne-colored chiffon that is weighted with embroidery of gold and silver nails.

One of Vionnet's mannequins is dusted with gold from top to toe and is robed magnificently in a stiff white gown Queen Elizabeth would have been delighted to wear. The skirt, which stands out in Elizabethan style, is cut into an open pattern like lace. Its bodice is twisted and draped. The entire garment is fashioned with thin white plaster flaked with gold.

Three Blue Goddesses

Worth's three goddesses are specialists in blue. One wears a sculptured gown of blue crepe. Another is dressed in a white gown draped with a lovely shawl of blue transparent velvet. The third which holds a mass of blue flowers in her arms reclines in a dress of blue lace over white chiffon, the wide skirt spread flat over the ground.

Alix takes the palm for skirt width. Her dress of rainbow-colored chiffon is fifty to sixty yards around the hem. Its layers and layers of different-colored flounces billow over the Exposition floor.

Big lacquered white plumes are mounted flat and stiff over white mousseline in a glamorous gown

Glorified Stripes

Maggy Rouff treats her two figures to glorified stripes in three fabrics. Light blue, purple and gold spiral around one plaster mannequin while cerise, light blue and gold panel the other. In each the gold lame rind extends one end over the head, like an Indian Sari, and drapes from there to the ground.

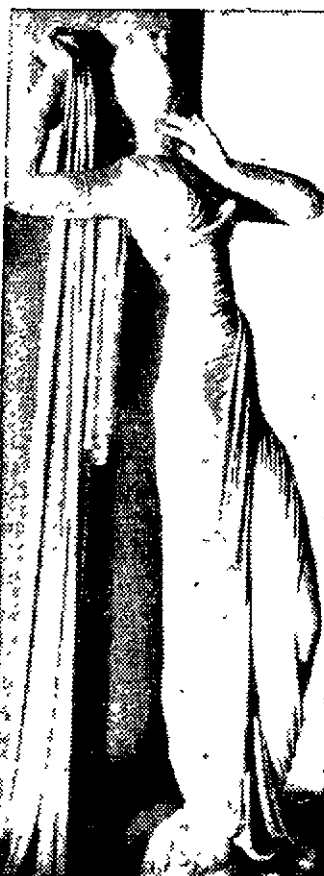

Molyneux's models are black tulle and silver lame, one full and the other a sheath. The sheath frock has a silver lame cape and a headpiece of three black paradise plumes.

Paradise plumes are also used by Worth who introduces them in a bracelet of blue stones.

Lelong has "twins," both dressed in white organdie. Decollete bodices are wrapped with pink satin ribbon that finishes in two long cash ends.

Chanel's mannequins are ribbon-minded, too. One is dressed in pink tulle "garnished" with purple moire ribbon. Another wears a black tulle gown ribboned with green and black moire.

Vivid Gauguin pink highlights Lucile Paray's exhibits. One gold net model opens over a pink petticoat. Another gown of flowered chiffon is draped and sashed with pink crepe.

SCULPTURED FOLDS

This bisque figurine has been draped by Alix in winding, champagne-tinted georgette. The scarf trailing over her right shoulder matches it.

Teachers' Head Foresees Peace in the Classrooms

By LYDIA GRAW SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer

Castleton, Vt.—Susan should have an easier time at school this year. Maybe she'll have to study just as hard, but her teachers won't be arguing so much over the comparative merits of the textbooks she should read.

In fact, Susan can look forward to a peaceful era in education, if the predictions of Miss Caroline S. Woodruff, newly-elected president of the National Education Association come true.

No more wrangling, she says. Progressives have become more conservative, and conservatives have taken on a progressive tinge. That brings them both to the long-awaited happy medium in education.

Each Side Wins Point
The Vermont woman — she heads the state teachers college at Castleton — characterizes the 1937-1938 school season thus:

1. Elementary and secondary schools will be less formalized — score one for the progressives.
2. Factual material will continue in the curriculum — score one for the conservatives.
3. First-hand experiences will supplement textbook dogma — it's a draw.

From The Annual Report of the Superintendent of New York Schools
FOR HER, A CALMER YEAR
Thousands like this little girl soon will return to America's classrooms for a term in which, it is indicated, teachers will spend more time teaching and less in debating pedagogical theories.

South American Invasion Is Brightening the Home

VIVA LA MEXICO!

This looks like a room south of the Rio Grande, but it is one that is adaptable—and could be an asset—to many homes north of the border.

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES,
Prepared by McCall's Magazine for The Freeman.

South America is coming north—and a welcome invasion it is, too—colorful, quaint and exotic handicraft things from Mexico, Guatemala and Peru.

Of course, they are delightful for summer and for simple old rooms. But you'll be amazed at the way they belong in formal modern schemes, all-year-round.

The quaint birds and animals on the soft brown Mexican pottery which can be used right in the over, have become favorites. Now we can have the subtle colors of lovely Talavera ware and the Mita temple designs of Oaxaca pottery. We have grown fond of the amethyst and blue bubble glass, and now we can have grass green.

A luncheon is just naturally gay in such a setting—Mexican flowers and hand-made textiles cloth in coral and blue or mats of hand-woven cotton embroidered with Guatemalan figures. Cool away from the Americanized woven-rush mats are ideal for shops.

summer floors—sewn together they can make a wall-to-wall rug. Wool serapes make perfect rugs—the soft beauty of the vegetable dyes is easily cleaned and lasts for years.

Mexican furniture not only is gay, but it also is inexpensive. Chairs with rush seats are painted in lively colors, stenciled with tropical flowers. The stretched cowhide chairs have comfortable fan or barrel backs.

Lanterns, hanging shelves of tin, fruit bowls of lacquered gourds and amusing pottery figurines are only a few of the delightful accessories.

So if you are puzzled about the new scheme for porch or living room, open your door to living from the Americas.

With their low prices for cut glass and hand-made textiles and baskets, Mexico's native Indians are taking tourist trade from the Americanized shops.

PROPHET

Miss Caroline S. Woodruff, new president of the National Education Association, says the progressive-conservative split among teachers is narrowing.

In addition, there'll be a great awakening among American educators, Miss Woodruff predicts. They're going to get away from petty details, like the kind of report cards to use, and the number of fire drills to hold, and take a look at educational methods in other countries.

Progress in Other Nations

The National Education association will lead the way, she hopes, and eventually will incorporate into American educational methods the best elements of education abroad.

Mexico should be a starting point, Miss Woodruff feels, for there under the Cardenas administration as much money is being spent on nation-wide standardized education as on the army and navy. The aim of the government is to have every adult Mexican literate by 1940. Emphasis is also being laid on vocational courses.

Cuba, she says, is making great strides under Gen. Juan Batista, who has trained his soldiers to assist in making rural dwellers literate.

Prominent in Her Field

National differences should be forgotten, while educators explore systems of countries like these, Miss Woodruff says.

Probably her background accounts for her world view. She holds the degrees of master and doctor of education, was the first woman president of the Vermont State Teachers' Association, has held innumerable offices in the National Education Association and is consultant on the Educational Policies Commission.

Helps For Housewives

Pineapples may be used for holding appetizers, salads or desserts. Use pineapple of uniformly medium size. Cut them in halves lengthwise and using a fork, scrape out the pulp (it may be used later). Wash and chill the cases. Stuff them with fruit, melons or berries.

Press woolen materials on the wrong side. Use a damp cloth between the iron and the material. The iron should be moderately hot and should be applied until the cloth is dry.

Crystals sometimes form on grape jelly. Although they are cream of tartar crystals and are, therefore, harmless, many people do not like their appearance. To get rid of crystals place the drained juice in a jar and let it stand overnight. The crystals are likely to form on top, and may be removed easily.

A little starch in the rinsing water used on curtains will make the curtains easier to iron. When rinsed in slightly starched water curtains also will stay in place better and soil less easily.

Use sugar syrup instead of granulated sugar for sweetening chilled beverages and punches, are to be served. The food and drink will stay cool much longer.

You've Got To Believe In Signs If You're Visiting A Radio Studio

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Radio "gags" are directed to the ear—not the eye.

That's why there's so much difference between the rules of conduct for audiences in the radio studio and the legitimate theatre. The audience in a radio studio isn't vital to the program, says Harry von Zell, announcer and master of ceremonies for a major network. It's the stay-at-home population that counts.

You're Part Of The Show.
Studio audiences are considered part of the show. When signs reading "applause," "laugh" or "laugh loudly" are displayed it's their job to take the cue—just as an actor does.

Many studio visitors don't realize, when they refuse to applaud because they don't think the show is much good, that applause

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Lima Bean Recipe
Dinner Serving Four
Lima Bean Creole
Bran Bread
Asparagus Salad And Dressing
Sliced Potatoes
Oatmeal Wafers
Coffee

Lima Bean Creole

2 cups cooked lima beans
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup tomato
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup bacon

Combine all ingredients excepting onion and pour into buttered casserole. Cover and bake 45 minutes in slow oven. Top with bacon strips and bake uncovered for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Asparagus Salad And Dressing

1 cup cooked asparagus
1/2 cup sliced cucumber
1/2 cup sliced cheese
1/2 cup French dressing
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sliced onion

Arrange the asparagus and cucumbers on crisp lettuce. Top with rest of the ingredients, combined.

Chill all ingredients before arranging.

Oatmeal Wafers

(Thin And Crisp)

1/2 cup butter
1 cup dark brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups oatmeal
1/2 cup soda
2 tablespoons cream

Cream butter and sugar. Add rest of the ingredients and mix lightly. Drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Space three inches apart. Bake 7 minutes in moderate oven. Inspect frequently since these cookies will burn easily.

Edge kitchen cupboard shelves with a valance which matches the edging or rubs on the kitchen curtains.

Two cups of granulated sugar and three cups of water. Allow the syrup to cool, then store it in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

Bake cheese biscuit dough in a ring mold. Unmold and spread it, while warm, with butter. Fill the center with a crisp salad. Pass additional salad dressing in a bowl.

Overcooking jelly will cause it to have a strong acid flavor and is likely to prevent proper congealing.

Scrub or soak clothes pins often in warm water and soap suds. If they are not clean they are likely to stain light-colored articles.

A triple mirror will prove helpful in the bathroom which does not have much space.

Coffee pots need scrubbing, rinsing and sterilizing every week. If you have difficulty in making clear, well-flavored coffee the pot may be at fault.

To prepare hard-cooked egg yolks or cheese for a garnish press them through a small tea strainer placed directly over the food.

Make a grape salad by spreading halves of pears with cream cheese. Arrange the pears, hollow side down, on crisp lettuce. Embed halves of grapes in the cream cheese on top. Add a tiny stem of any edible greenery.

Add one teaspoonful of cinnamon and a quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves to your regular waffle recipe. When the waffles are baked spread them with butter mixed with honey.

A little horseradish added to salad dressing or white sauce makes a piquant sauce for fish. Horseradish also may be added to whipped cream and served with baked boiled or fried ham.

Cooked cauliflower mixed with cooked peas and a cheese sauce makes a tasty luncheon or supper dish. Serve it over toast or crackers.

Chill plates, dishes and glasses in which cold foods and drinks are to be served. The food and drink will stay cool much longer.

Beauty

Let The Eyes Have It, But Carefully

By BETTY CLARKE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Eye make-up always is a ticklish problem. Don't tackle it during business hours, say beauticians. Use discrimination when you put it on for evenings. Like other cosmetics, eye make-up should enhance, not overwhelm, natural beauty—you're not going to face the footlights. Lucille Manners, radio star, shows how to do all this successfully:

REFRESHMENT . . .

First, bathe the eyes with lotion, preferably a witch hazel or boracic acid compound. Miss Manners dips a piece of cotton in a bowl of the solution, but an eye cup also is practical. Daily bathing of the eyes is particularly refreshing in the summer.

REALIGNMENT . . .

After drying the eyes, get out the mascara, which is applied best with a brush, and color the lashes gently. Brush the upper lashes upward, the lower ones downward. Since mascara separates each lash, be careful to apply only a minimum. If you're blonde, avoid dark mascara.

AND HARMONY

Let your eyeshadow harmonize with the color of your eyes, says Miss Manners, busy applying just a bit to her upper lids. Blue for blue eyes, green for hazel eyes, brown for brown eyes, and so on. Unless you want to look emaciated, she warns, don't put any under the eyes.

Single grass plants in a pasture do not get much attention because there are so many of them, but a pasture is the sum of the individual plants in it as surely as a crop of corn is the sum of all the corn plants in the field. Farmers seed the more productive strains of wheat and other cereals. But generally they overlook the point that there probably is as much difference in bluegrasses, for example, as there is in wheats. One plant may produce several times as much feed as another, and if all the bluegrass plants in a pasture were as good as the best of them, that kind of pasture might well provide feed for more animals for a longer season.

Sprinkle grated cheese over the tops of scalloped tomatoes. It adds flavor.

The Grape Is A Sociable Fruit; It's At Home In Almost Any Dish

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Name almost any popular dish—salad, dessert, appetizer, beverage—grapes may be used in any. Grapes served as fruit should be washed, drained and arranged in a flat dish, either alone or with other fruits.

Frosted grapes make a novel centerpiece. To prepare them, you dip bunches of grapes in slightly beaten egg white, sprinkling them with confectioner's sugar and then drying and chilling them.

Red and green grapes, dipped in melted fondant and dried make a novel confection for the tea table.

Grape ice is delicious served with the main course of the meal or as a dessert.

To make it, boil, for two minutes, one cup of sugar with one and one-half cups of water. Add one-fourth of a cup of lemon juice and two cups of grape juice. Pour the mixture into a freezer. When it is half-frozen add a beaten egg white and combination very stiff.

Grapes also may be mixed with fresh or canned fruits, berries or melons and served as salad with French or mayonnaise dressing. Larger varieties should be cut into halves with a sharp knife—and have their seeds removed. Smaller, seedless grapes may be used whole.

Grape juice may be used with other juices in cocktails. It may also be mixed into a wide variety of gelatin and frozen desserts, cakes and cookies, baked, steamed and coiled puddings, sauces and cake fillings.

Grape juice should be stored in bottles and jars that are sealed tightly. It should be kept in a dark, dry place and used up soon after it is opened, since it is likely to mold or turn sour if it stands.

When making grape jelly, you

WAR AS A BUSINESS

There are two obvious reasons why Japan is making war in China today with more energy than usual. One is business enterprise. The ruling class in Japan, the old Samurai plus the modern business barons, who are often the same persons, want control of the economic resources of China and a larger Chinese market for Japanese goods. The other reason is political. This war started immediately after a national election in which, for the third time, the party in power was repudiated at the polls. The last majority against the government was so overwhelming that it left scarcely half a dozen of the Old Guard in parliament.

A foreign war is the traditional remedy of a ruler or a ruling party when his domestic support fails. The drums beat, the trumpets sound, the subsidized press obeys orders, and the people rally in due form to support the discredited government against the foreign enemy. The success of this move is seen in Tokyo today very clearly. "Patriotism" brings the political opponents and critics into line.

Can the imperialists get away with it? And will it pay? The German imperialists thought so in 1914 when they marched into Belgium. They have been paying for it themselves ever since. And yet a new breed of German imperialists is preparing for another adventure of the same sort—again with the apparent approval of the nation. Italy thinks so, under Mussolini. The old traditions die hard. Ambitious and ruthless statesmen will not see or admit that peaceful foreign trade is more profitable than violent conquest.

LOOKING IN

People have been told so often that television is "not far off" that they discount the progress actually made. "So clear are the television pictures," says a current account of this new industry, "that the motion of the second-hand of an ordinary watch, life-size, is clearly visible several feet away. It is possible to read the serial number of a dollar bill (also life-size) at a distance as great as normal eye-contact." The various experiments have been broad-minded and intelligent enough to standardize the most important parts of their technique, so that when general television broadcasting begins, anyone can receive from any of the stations. The extremely fine screen used, 441 lines to the inch, makes the pictures astonishingly distinct. The tone is described as "practically identical with black and white movies." Recent pictures of a tennis match clearly showed the flight of the ball. Radio pictures of the British coronation taken in the rain showed the King and Queen clearly through the glass of the coach windows.

At present, with a considerable amount of experimental television broadcasting, there are said to be only about 100 "lookers-in." But general use and enjoyment of this marvelous invention may come sooner than most people expect. And when launched, it will be far more advanced in perfection than radio was in its infancy. There will be this notable difference, too—there will be few amateurs in television. This is no quartz crystal game. It is expensive and complicated.

ISLAND FOR LINDBERGH

The report that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may buy a small island named Milin, near the coast of France, is interesting. The famous flyer's exclusiveness grows more and more pronounced. He has enjoyed privacy in England, for the last two years, beyond any he has known since his pioneer flight across the Atlantic, but on land there is always a chance of intrusion. On an island there may be almost complete privacy. The very word suggests it. "Island" by derivation is an "isolated" or "insulated" place.

This, however, may be only part of the story. Another part is that the island in question is close to one occupied over summer by Dr. Alois Carrel, famous scientist of the Rockefeller Institute, with whom Lindbergh has collaborated in producing a "mechanical heart" and other devices for physiological research. Whatever the motives, if Lindbergh acquires that island, Americans may never see much of him again.

SHANGHAI

Shanghai is the sixth city of the world in population and perhaps in importance. It ranks next after London, New York, Berlin, Chicago and Tokio. Imagine a foreign army, without notice or formal declaration of war, attacking any of those cities by air, land and water, ignoring the so-called rules of warfare, disorganizing their whole system of life and bringing panic upon the population. And not only fighting the military defenders, but slaughtering civilians by thousands and destroying the homes and livelihood of hundreds of thousands.

This is not merely one oriental city involved in a distant Asiatic war. It is a picture of what may, and perhaps will, happen to any great city, and to many smaller ones, in any war hereafter among the big powers. The blood and pain and tears of Shanghai should go home to every city, town and hamlet in the world, as a warning of what might come to it, in the progress of modern, mechanized, "civilized" warfare.

HEART MURMURS

Our instructions regarding examination of recruits for overseas service were quite clear and direct regarding eyes, teeth, and the heart. All recruits with heart murmurs were to be rejected, not because these heart murmurs were all due to organic or real heart disease, but that at some point along the line before the front trenches were reached the murmur might be detected by an examining officer. The recruit might then be sent home—perhaps thousands of miles and after months of training, certainly a great financial loss to the country.

Many of these functional—not organic—murmurs disappeared when the patient was instructed to exercise briskly—jog 50 steps in the one spot or run up a stairway—whereas if organic heart disease were present, the murmurs became louder and more distinct. However, it is not advisable to give all patients with murmurs such severe exercise, and so it has happened at times that physicians, taking all things into consideration, have pronounced murmurs as of a serious nature and advised care on the part of the patient to prevent collapse.

You can thus see that any method which will help the physician to decide between a "functional" and an "organic" murmur is of great importance to patient and physician. Dr. M. M. Moxley and Irving Okin, in the Journal of Pediatrics, describe the result of a five-year study of heart murmurs in children and their success in using a solution of epinephrine (1 to 1,000) by hypodermic method, to show the difference between the non-important functional murmurs and the murmurs due to organic heart disease.

Epinephrine is the juice or extract of the adrenal glands situated on one top of each kidney. When a solution of epinephrine (adrenalin chloride) was injected under the skin, six minims (drops) for children under eight, and eight minims for those above eight, it was found that between ten and twenty minutes after injection the strength of the heart contraction or beat was increased, and heart murmurs due to true heart disease became louder and stronger. The adrenalin does not put a strain on the heart as would exercise.

This simple test makes one more helpful in distinguishing between organic heart murmurs and those that are functional and not important.

BY HUBERT FOOTNER

"IN '35, A lover lay searates Nell, a young federal agent, and Janet in Baltimore. She won't break a date with Present Fanning whom Nell considers a crook. Trying to check on Fanning, Nell is doped by a man. Next day a mysterious phone call tells Nell that Janet is in trouble on Fanning's yacht at Abalom's Harbor. Rushing there, he finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Seeking a hideout, he-it rouses her to the disused line kept up the river. They manage to get aboard, dodge a watchman and locate the 'royal stie.'"

Chapter 12

'I Didn't Shoot Him'

NEILL suddenly remembered that he had not eaten anything during the past strenuous 12 hours. They spread out their provender on the cabin table and he hung the flashlight upside down from the ceiling to give the light. They feasted on cold meat, bread and butter, pickles and salad, and because they were young and in love they forgot danger for a time.

"I wonder if any couple before us ever had a whole 25,000-ton ship to themselves," said Neill.

When he looked in Janet's clear eyes he was relieved of the fear that her mind was deranged. Still some of the things she said rang queerly, as when he told her he would leave her his gun and she said:

"I wouldn't know how to use it." Neill made no comment.

Later she said tremulously: "You are so good to me, Neill!" "Why the hell shouldn't I be good to you?" he growled.

"Not one word of reproach!" "I'm so darn glad to get you back there's no room for reproaches."

When they had finished eating and cleared away, Neill unrolled his coil of light rope. Even had they been able to bring it down from the deck, the Jacob's ladder was too heavy for Janet to haul up after he had gone, or to lower for him when he came again, and he planned to make a rope ladder to take its place. Cutting off short lengths for the cross pieces, he showed her how to knot them so they wouldn't slip, and the two of them worked away together under the light.

"You haven't asked me what happened," Janet said with her head down.

"You don't have to tell me now unless you feel like it."

"Certainly. You have to be told. . . . Fanning was just what you said he was. I was a fool."

"We all are."

"He actually planned to carry me down to Cuba on his yacht. He said that before we got there. . . ."

"She blushed deeply."

"You would become reconciled to a fate and wouldn't leave him?" put in Neill.

"Yes."

"He had a hell of a good conceit of himself, didn't he? . . . How did he inveigle you aboard?"

"He said that the yacht had been offered to him at a great bargain, and suggested that we have dinner aboard. I look her over. There were some other people coming, a Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook, so it seemed all right."

"Decoys," put in Neill.

"We had dinner and afterwards when Fanning wanted to show me over the yacht the Westbrooks said it was too nice sitting on deck, so we left them there and went below. When we had looked at everything and came back on deck, they weren't where we had left them, but I thought they were somewhere about. I suspected nothing. Fanning suggested that we take a little run down the harbor and come back on deck. He said I could steer her and I was as pleased as a child. . . . Oh, what a fool I was!"

"Never mind that," said Neill.

"His Manner Changed"

"WE WERE tied up to the oil dock in Canton taking fuel oil. The sailors cast off the ropes and we went down to Fort Carroll. When I said we must turn back, Fanning's manner changed. He took me away from the wheel and a sailor steered. Fanning said we weren't ever going back any more. At first I thought he was joking. When I saw that he meant it, I looked for the Westbrooks. It was then that I found they had slipped ashore while we were below."

"What could I do? We were in the mouth of the river a couple of miles from shore, and it was useless to cry for help. The sailors were all afraid of Fanning and they couldn't help me. They steered away from the main channel so that I could not call for help if we passed another vessel. Fanning wasn't rough with me at all. He . . ."

"He made out he was in love with you," suggested Neill grimly.

"Yes. He said there would be no compulsion on me. That I should be perfectly free and my own mistress until such time as I was ready to come to him. But that was all talk. However, he gave me the after cabin to myself, and there was a key in the door so that I could break a date with myself. But, oh, Neill, what a terrible night!"

"There was some kind of accident in the engine room. We were stopped for a long time, and then went on slowly. When it became light, I saw that we had run into a harbor alongside a village, but I didn't know where it was. Fanning was in an ugly temper because the accident had upset all his plans. He told me I would have to stay below as long as we lay in harbor."

"How did you get word to me?" asked Neill.

"McGee, the engineer, had to take up part of the cabin floor to look at the propeller shaft. He was a decent sort of man; he looked as if he was sorry for me. Fanning learned from their talk that McGee had to go to Baltimore. I wrote your room number at the Staff on a piece of paper. I knew you were registered under an assumed name, and slipped it to him when Fanning wasn't looking."

"Good trick!"

"All day I stayed below. They brought me my meals in the saloon. In the evening Fanning sent the rest of the crew ashore to go to the movies. Through the porthole I saw them go away. Shortly after that Fanning came into my cabin without knocking, and I saw that he had turned ugly."

He looked the door behind him. . . .

Janet began to shake pitifully. "That's all I can remember," she faltered. "I must have fainted through terror. The next thing I knew I was out in the saloon and you were speaking to me."

"Did you have a gun?" asked Neill.

"Yes, I forgot that. After McGee had left my cabin I found it under the sofa. I supposed that he had left it there for me."

"Where was the gun when Fanning came in?"

"Lying on the table in my cabin. . . . Why are you asking me these questions about the gun?" she added nervously.

"When I broke in the door of your cabin Fanning was shot dead," said Neill.

She stared at him in horror. "Oh, my God! What are you saying? . . . I didn't shoot him, Neill! I swear it!"

He kissed her. He didn't believe her. Most likely the truth was that she had snatched up the pistol, mad with terror, and had shot the man without knowing what she was doing. Anyhow, he loved her, and what difference did it make? In fact, he hoped that she had shot Fanning.

"Back To The Hotel"

HE could not bring himself to question her further in her present shaken state. He said lightly:

"Hold up a minute until I measure off how much ladder we've got. It was 42 feet from the rail of the promenade deck to the water, and I figure we'll need 33 here."

Janet was as eager to drop the subject as he was, and so it was allowed to lie.

When the ladder was finished, he contrived a simple signal for the purpose of letting her know when to let it down to him. He fastened the rope to the catch of a wall cabinet and, leading it out across the little deck and through a window, let it hang outside. A single strand of brown twine would never be noticed. When it was pulled, the door of the cabinet flew open. They laughed at the simplicity of the gadget.

Wrapping Janet in the rug, Neill laid her down on the deck, and sat on the floor, soothing her like a child until her eyes grew heavy and finally closed. After kissing her to make sure that she slept, he went out on the little deck and, stripping off his clothes, wrapped them in the oilskin coat and tied it securely.

Slinging this bundle over his back, he climbed out of the window, went down the rope ladder and slipped into the water. Janet could pull up the ladder when she woke.

When Neill emerged from the water, he saw a dim light a couple of hundred yards off to his left. After dressing and hiding the oilskin coat in the brush, he walked along the beach to investigate. It proved to be a light from a small upper window of an old farmhouse on the river bank. Below the bank was a little wharf and tied in her. Neill noted it with satisfaction. This would be convenient for the coming night.

Making a detour around the house, he gained the driveway that served it and was led out to the state road at a point about a mile from the village. The first faint streaks of dawn were beginning to appear in the east when he reached the hotel. The outer door was unlocked and he stole up to his room without meeting anybody.

Viaduct, Grading Going Forward on Highland By-Pass

Work is progressing on the construction of the new Highland by-pass which will not only speed up traffic between the Poughkeepsie bridge traffic circle and West Park, but will also eliminate the dangerous two-lane highway that winds down through the village of Highland and which has been the scene of numerous accidents.

Carpenters are working on the last molds for the center span and the steel reinforcing rods have been placed on another section ready for the pouring of concrete. The sidewalk across the bridge is just about finished on all but the center span. This sidewalk is hollow in order to decrease the weight of the structure, and this deviation from the usual procedure of sidewalk construction necessitates the waterproofing of the project so that no moisture seeps into the hollow walk and causes breakage.

Grading Work
At the north end of the by-pass, additional drainage pipes are being installed and shoulders are being leveled-off at the low points. A view of the new roadbed indicates a fine piece of work in roadbuilding and when the project is completed, Route 9-W will have had another one of its more dangerous pieces of roadway eliminated.

At the south end of the construction work, at the summit of the steep hill coming up out of the business section of Highland, a group of men are engaged in constructing a new base for the soldier's monument which had to be moved to make way for the new alignment. Another gang is building a 75 foot wall to protect the foundation of the Rhodes' residence.

The road grading on the entire project is almost finished, with one or two places where outcroppings of rock are being removed with the aid of compressed air drills. Just how long it will be before the new road is opened to traffic is not known, since concrete has been poured and a section of the bridge is still under construction.

'World's Fair' Date Is September 29

The 58th annual exhibition of the Town of Neversink Agricultural Society, widely known as the "World's Fair," will be held this year on Wednesday, September 29. In case of rain the fair will be held two days later, on Friday. As in former years the fair will be held on the society's grounds at Grahamsville, starting at 9 a. m. and lasting one day. One of the few old time country fairs left, the "World's Fair," continues each year to attract anywhere from six to eight thousand people, not only from the surrounding country but from distant points.

It is the recognized "old home week" for former and present Sullivan county folks and in addition is the place where as a general thing one may meet and be graciously welcomed by aspiring candidates for offices to be voted for a few weeks later.

Emmett Slater is president of the Fair Association and Robert T. Many is the general superintendent.

Untractable.
Wilmington, O.—Police thought they'd reached the limit in drunk drivers when they arrested an intoxicated farmer steering a horse and buggy along a zig-zag course.

They met a man in the same condition—driving a tractor.

Senator Borah Attacks Fascism

The Freeman has received several requests from its readers asking that an address delivered at the last session of congress by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho on "Fascism" be printed. Excerpts from Senator Borah's speech appear as follows:

Mr. President, I believe in the general principles stated by Senator Lewis of Illinois; that is to say in an adequate defense—in an adequate navy and in an adequate army. * * * But the first line of defense in any country is the character of its citizenship, the loyalty of the citizen to his government. There is not a large orthodoxy in the United States today which does not have a very large number of youths being trained in disloyalty to the American government. I say north of the Mason and Dixon line because my investigation shows that such does not prevail to any marked extent in the South. * * *

The traitors who are at the head of the organizations, will tell you that there is no incompatibility between their loyalty to fascism and nazism and loyalty to the American government. They will tell you that they can be loyal to fascism and nazism and still be true Americans. * * *

This is the same kind of deception that is being practiced by fascism and nazism internationally now in the war against Spain. The governments of Germany and Italy are carrying on war against the government of Spain. * * *

The guns and men which massacre the people of Guernica were furnished by these two governments. * * *

The basic principle of fascism and nazism is deception, is duplicity, is professing to do what they are not doing, or professing the contrary of what they propose to do. Here in this country our youths are being poisoned with this doctrine which is at war with every principle upon which our institutions rest. * * *

No man can be loyal to American institutions or loyal to the American flag and believe in a single fundamental principle of fascism or nazism. Those who preach it are disloyal regardless of what they profess to the public. While preparing with battleships and machine guns, while filling the heavens with airplanes, let us keep the soul of American youth clean of those teachings; and let us keep our hearts free of those millions in the old world and writing history in the blood of women and children.

Shokan, Aug. 28.—Mrs. M. Meade of the Bedford section of Brooklyn is a guest for a few days at the Michael Gorman summer home in the east end of the village.

Recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country included Kenneth Hawk, who as a boy resided here with his parents about 20 years ago.

Mrs. G. Begley and son, Philip, of Brooklyn are spending a two weeks' vacation at the summer home of Mrs. Begley's sister, Mrs. D. T. Reardon.

Mrs. James Hartvig, who spent the summer in England, arrived this country Monday on the "Queen Mary," and is again at the Hartvig place on the north boulevard.

Application blanks may be obtained of H. L. Van Deusen, secretary of the board, at the city hall. The civil service board also requires that with each application blank filed the candidate must at the same time file a health certificate from her family physician showing that she is in good health. The position pays a minimum salary of $75 a month.

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP)—Col. Roscoe Turner tuned up the motor today of a new racing plane which he hopes to speed 400 miles an hour and break a few aviation records.

The noted ace of the air speed lanes wheeled the small silver ship "Meteor" out for a final test before flying to Burbank, Calif., starting point of the Bendix Trophy Race Sept. 3.

Alongside the "Meteor" stood his golden "Comet," rebuilt on the lines of the former and designed to attain a speed of 300 miles per hour.

The flier said the "Meteor" was the first mid-wing type, full cantilever monoplane ever used in major racing. Its 25-foot wing has no struts or outside supports, and has only 95 square feet of surface.

Col. Turner will pilot the "Meteor" in the Bendix race and in the Thompson trophy race to be flown at the national air races at Cleveland, Sept. 11. He will fly the "Comet" in both races.

to the northern part of the state where they will visit friends. Mrs. Elbert D. Smith, Miss Mary Hope Smith and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, who have been spending a week at their cottage at Suydam Farms, are returning to Brooklyn on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Deatlenauer sailed this morning for a Cuban cruise of 10 days. John and Paul Young of Clinton avenue are spending their last week of a month's vacation at Digby, Nova Scotia.

Among vacationists at Bar Harbor, Me., are Mr. and Mrs. A. Noble Graham of Janet street. Miss Gertrude Burhans of Pine street is spending a few days at Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. Vernon Hull of Smith avenue is spending several days in Philadelphia.

Returning from a summer spent in studying is Miss Pauline Palen of Stone Ridge, who is spending the remainder of her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Palen. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weber of Lucas avenue have returned home from spending the past week at White Sulphur Springs and the Saratoga races.

Markle-Billings. Mrs. Naomi Billings of Main street and Wilson D. Markle of Hurley, were married here on August 16, by City Judge Bernard A. Culliton. They were attended by Minna von Bagen of Stone Ridge and John J. Miller of Lomontville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen and children Robert and Anna, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Draffen of Bovina, Delaware county. Mr. Draffen is the proprietor of a large dairy farm at Bovina.

Summer Graduates Should Start Security Accounts

"Possession of a social security account number may mean the difference between getting the job or having the next applicant get it," asserted John Form, manager of the Kingston field office of the Social Security Board. He urged that all graduates of summer schools who intend to start in business or to take jobs upon completion of their school courses, get their account numbers at once.

"Social Security account numbers are essentially the keys which will one day open the treasury of the old-age independence for workers who have built up credits for old-age benefit payments on their retirement. The account number issued to any individual will identify his wage record throughout the years of his employment until he reaches 65. Under that account number, the wages he earns from all employers in covered industry will be carefully accumulated, whether there are from a hundred to thousands of employers, or only one."

"It is especially important now because many employers require prospective workers to give their account numbers at the time they are hired. They feel that the possession of an account number is one of the factors which qualify the applicant for a job. Without a number, workers are simply not prepared to start work at once."

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR TOWNSEND CLUB SECRETARY

An enthusiastic crowd of the members of the Townsend Club surprised Miss Josephine D. Cromie Friday evening at her home at 11 Derrenbacher street, with a birthday party. Miss Cromie is the club's secretary. The crowd spent a very enjoyable evening. Miss Cromie was generously remembered with lovely gifts. Refreshments were served. The Townsend Club is making some rather ambitious plans for the fall and winter months. One of these is a melodramatic play by 12 or 14 members of the club, entitled "Life Begins at Sixty," showing in a graphic way the practical application of their plan for those past 60 years of age when they get $200 a month pension.

Later another feature for Kingston people will be an address by Sheriff Bartlett of Delaware county. His subject will be, "Why I Am a Townsdenite." A unique feature of the club's meeting Wednesday evening this week was the musical selections rendered by the Kingston Rangers. They are to be heard again by the club in the near future.

France Is Second Only to Russia in Air Power

Paris.—Air Minister Pierre Cot declares France today is second only to Russia in air power. "No air force in the world has ever made the progress in 12 months that we have made in the last year," he said.

He listed the accomplishments. "We have increased our modern equipment in use by 110 per cent. By the end of 1937 the increase will be 180 per cent."

"Our bombing power has increased 400 per cent. "Our air force has become one of the most powerful in the world; second only to that of Soviet Russia."

Nationalization has strengthened the aircraft industry, he said. "Our industrial potential has been raised in the course of a year by 30 per cent," he said. "By the end of 1938 it will be 100 per cent greater than it was in 1936."

"We have raised the officer strength by 25 per cent and in order to give our air force vigorous commanders have lowered the retiring age limit."

Home Institute YOUR PRONUNCIATION REVEALS YOUR BACKGROUND OR LACK OF IT

Do You Make Little Slips Unawares?

How voices carry in these outdoor, open-window days! Easy to tell—from the pronunciation—what kind of person the speaker is! "Hello! We're an eye-PENUS idea," chimes another. "About the athletic contest?" asks a man.

You notice they don't say eye-DEER for idea, stu-PENUS for stuporous, or ath-a-letic for athletic. They must be Lucy, Kit and Don, who are tops with the nicest crowd in the neighborhood.

But now what a contrast! "AwreVORE" a girl says. "I'm nuts about your KOOP toots. I'll take you anywhere."

That's the nobody of the block. She complains her neighbors are snobs. But if she'd learn to say "o re VWAR" for an rovar, koo-Pay for coupe, anywhere without that final "s," she'd find the "snobs" friendly and admiring.

It's so simple to brush up on pronunciation, there's really no excuse for making such slips. Begin by checking mistakes in little words. Do you wrongly add a "t" to twice, say "twit"? Or do you give two syllables where there should be one; say "fil-lum" for film?

Then long words. Do you accent exultant on the first or second syllable? First is right. Do you say KEW-ll-may-ree for culinary or do you mispronounce it KULL-in-ay-ree?

Your supposed to know Anglicized foreign words too. You say GONDOLA, not gonDOLA. Vaudeville is VODevil, not VAWdville.

Sounds hard? It's easy. Our 40-page booklet, WORDS MOST OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED, shows you how to check your blunders, to cultivate quickly the clear, correct speech that wins friends.

ARCHITECT POPE DEAD, WAS NOTED DESIGNER

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The world of Architecture mourned today the death of John Russell Pope, 63, one of America's foremost designers of public buildings, memorials and private estates.

Pope, accorded international recognition, had been commissioned to design the $15,000,000 building in Washington to house the national gallery of art established by Andrew W. Mellon.

Mellon died less than 24 hours before Pope succumbed in a hospital last night after an operation. Funeral services for the architect will be held at Newport, R. I., tomorrow, followed by private burial in the family plot there. His wife, his daughter and a sister survive.

Pope was born in New York city April 24, 1874. He won renown as an exponent of classic style in architecture. Among estates he designed early in his career were those of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Marshall Field, Jr., Robert J. Collier and Ogden L. Mills.

The great granite shaft of Montfaucon, France, commemorating the victory of the American army in the Meuse-Argonne offensive was his last war memorial. It was dedicated August 1.

He also designed the archway building and the Scottish Rite Temple in Washington, the Theodore Roosevelt memorial in New York city, and the extension of the British Museum in London, housing the famous Elgin Mar-

PEIPING AGAIN IS
SCENE OF WARFAREAncient Capital of China
Again in Spotlight.

Washington, D. C.—Fighting in the Peiping area has again thrown world spotlight on the frequently fought-over city, former capital of China and always a center of international interests.

"Peiping is still a key to China's foreign affairs," says the National Geographic society. "Its geographic location brings it into contact with Japanese-controlled Manchukuo on the northeast, semi-independent Tibetan provinces on the west, and Russian-controlled Mongolia on the northwest. Foreign embassies and branch offices of foreign business firms give it the greatest international importance north of the Yangtze river. As center of the Hopei-Chahar council, it is a focus for the independence movement which has weakened ties between North China and the central government at Nanking.

Stronghold of Tradition.

"In national affairs Peiping is a stronghold of tradition. Contrasting with the present Chinese capital at Nanking, the northern metropolis has had many reincarnations as seat of China's government under such romance-freighted names as Peking, Cambulue, and Purple Imperial City. Its Mandarin dialect, the 'Parisian French' of Chinese speech, comes closer than any other to being generally understood throughout the nation.

"Peiping was the focus of perhaps the most widespread international tension on Chinese record during the anti-foreign Boxer uprising in 1900, when troops of several nations including the United States, were landed and marched inland to rescue all Peiping's foreign residents, who had been besieged for two months in the British embassy.

"Since that time an important sector of the Chinese city has been the half-square-mile of occidental oasis on the oriental scene—the legation quarter, where foreign troops guard gateways. Three and four-story buildings form the legation quarter skyline, pierced by the radio tower of the United States marines.

"China's ghost-town-in-chief lies at the very heart of Peiping's walled rectangle, the Forbidden city. This realm of fabulous imperial splendor began to totter when invaded by foreign troops quelling the Boxer uprising, was supplanted by Chinese republicanism, and when the 'White House' was moved to Nanking in 1926, the Imperial palace became a haunt for sightseers.

Really Five Cities.

"When the Forbidden city lost its potency, Peiping was crippled but not killed. For the northern metropolis is really five cities, built like the nests of lacquer boxes on shelves of its own curio shops. The ancient but unbroken Peiping walls encircle a Chinese city in its southern part, from which the Tartar city, from the northern section is set apart. Within that, red walls, protect the Imperial city, within which nestles the once most exclusive area of all, the purple-walled Forbidden city. Just south of the latter is the international enclosure.

"Commerce with the north preserved Peiping's importance when imperial prestige faded. Seven main highways for camel caravans, passable for some distance by auto, radiate from the city. Nomadic Mongol relatives of Genghis Khan from the north of the Great Wall converge by those routes to exchange meat, livestock, hides and furs for winter supplies of brick tea and salt. A thriving fur trade is stimulated by icy winds from frozen northern deserts, giving Peiping some zero winter weather although it is south of Philadelphia's latitude. Summer winds bring blighting dust storms, for which Peiping is as notorious as London is for fogs.

"As commercial and cultural mistress of China's northern plain, Peiping is the country's second largest city, being surpassed only by Shanghai. In location it has no natural advantages over the thousands of nearby villages, few of them containing more than a dozen earthen houses with thatched roofs. Yet Peiping is renowned for its spacious paved streets, imposing gates, and its crumbling palaces and temples."

Buck Western Grave for Sutter, Finder of Gold

Lititz, Pa.—Removal of Gen. John Augustus Sutter's body from this place to San Francisco for supposed expository purposes so far has met with a cool reception.

Several California emissaries recently visiting here pleaded for permission to return the body to the west coast where, they said, the general should remain. They would build a monument near the site of his mill where he discovered gold.

Sutter was credited with starting the "Westward Hoing" of the '40ers who, crowding around the mill creek, eventually founded the colony which became the city of Sacramento.

Lititz officials, however, insist that Sutter found it necessary to come here to prosecute his claims of California property. While his suit was in litigation in Washington Sutter died, reportedly a poor and disappointed man.

'Come Out Fighting'

—By Pap

Joe Louis is heavyweight champion, all right. He won the title by stopping Braddock in eight rounds. But the man in the street is not quite ready to accept the Bomber as boss of the big boys.

There is that little matter of a 12-round knockout Joe suffered at the hands of Max Schmeling. Until Louis erases that taint from his record his claim to the title of world champion is not as strong as it might be.

Perhaps that is why there has been no stampede for tickets to the Louis-Farr fracas. On the surface it would appear the contest had all the ingredients necessary for a sell-out. A world heavyweight champion is defending his title. The international angle is there, too. That generally means a sure-fire hit.

Before Louis won the diadem he was, without a doubt, the greatest drawing card since Jack Dempsey's heyday. But now that he is champion the paying public wants to see him in action against the logical contender. That happens to be Max Schmeling. Not Tommy Farr nor anyone else. The failure of Farr to catch the eyes of critics in his workouts has not helped stimulate interest. The experts have installed Louis a 4-1 favorite to stop Farr in short order. Even the British boxing writers cannot see how their man hopes to win.

Watching the fair-skinned Farr in training one cannot help but feel there is a likelihood he will have to repeat his training camp habit of drawing back his glove before tossing a punch only once or twice before Louis drives his punches to a vital spot. Farr looks as though he would cut easily. Most fair-skinned fighters do. Chances are that the referee will not hesitate to call halt should the Bomber muss up the Welsh fighter with a few well-placed rights and lefts.

Perhaps Farr has been holding back in training and has a surprise or two for the champion. That's hardly likely, although Farr is known to be a "cute" fighter and one whose style is not easy to fathom.

Marksman Wins
Trapshoot Honors

Really Five Cities.

Vandalia, O., Aug. 28 (AP)—This Miami Valley village picked the cotton out of its ears today as the echoes of a million shotgun shell explosions died away—marking the end of the 38th annual Grand American Trapshoot program.

This week's shoot topped all previous ones in high scoring and sniffling performance, with Friday's drama-packed climax, the Grand American Handicap furnishing its usual thrills.

Frank Gray Carroll, 35, of Brecksville, O., near Cleveland, who never before had stepped upon a trap in any kind of championship competition, won the annual classic.

Carroll turned a trick that has been performed just twice before in the "Grand"—breaking 100 targets in a row.

But Carroll needed every one of the targets to win, for 11 marksmen finished with a single miss for scores of 99 or 100. And right behind them came 13 with scores of 98, and 30 others with 97.

The victory was worth about $3,000 to Carroll, $2,400 in cash and the remainder in trophies.

Don Shelton, 17-year-old Marshall, Ill., high school boy, took second money in the shoot-off—and it was his first trip to the Grand, too.

After Shelton came A. B. Springer of Metropolis, Ill., Herb Bush of Eaton, Ill.; who finished second last year; and Ray Falcon of Evanston, Ill.

Tiger, Zebra Butterflies
Named Because of Color

Butterflies were given their name because of the yellowish color of so many of them, making them look like butter.

Besides the yellows, there are many other families of butterflies. Among these are the meadow-browns, the longbeaks and the swallowtails.

The swallowtail family is itself divided into many branches. The tigers, the blues, the blacks, the zebras and the giants are some of the branches, according to an authority in the Detroit News.

The black swallowtail is found in almost every section of southern Canada and the United States. When eggs of the blacks hatch, the caterpillars feed on the leaves of such vegetables as carrots, parsnips and parsley. After becoming butterflies, they fly about for two months or so before death overtakes them.

The blue swallowtail is one of the prettiest butterflies in North America. The hind wings are largely covered with blue-green scales which glisten in the sunlight. The front wings are darker, and have white spots on them.

Tiger swallowtails are striped yellow and black. The "zebras" are striped with green and black and have longer "tails" than most members of the group.

The giant swallowtail is the largest in its family. It sometimes has a wingspread of close to five inches. There are larger butterflies in the world.

Gains Golf Finals

By FRANK GORRIE

Portland, Ore., Aug. 28 (AP)—Today was golf coronation day at the Alderwood Club with the crowning of a new National Amateur champion—either rally-polly Johnny Goodman of Omaha, or youthful Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Johnny was getting his second crack at the title as a finalist and he was a heavy favorite largely because of his reputation and his icy disposition under fire.

Goodman and 23-year-old Billows, who has been playing tournament golf only three years, were down for a 36-hole struggle, the winner to gain the title relinquished yesterday by Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati whose game collapsed completely under the fancy iron work of the New York state champion.

Fischer, dropping nine strokes to par, lost to Billows, 6 and 5, the match ending at the 31st. Billows, despite only fair putting, wasted not one stroke.

The New York state amateur champion has never been very far from par in any of his matches here. If he happens to regain his putting touch and Goodman keeps his, Old Man Par may have to scurry to cover and stay there in the final.

Goodman had one advantage over Billows today. The Poughkeepsie youth couldn't help but remember that Johnny gave him a 2 and 1 licking in the quarter-finals of the 1932 National.

Fischer, every part of his game wobbling at times, fell one down to young Billows in the morning round, and dropped five more in the afternoon before the one-sided contest ended on the 31st.

World War Hand Grenade
Is Uncarried in Indiana

Pottsville, Ind.—Citizens here still are puzzling over the mystery of how an unexploded World War hand grenade found its way into the ground of a Bethel township farm where it was turned up by a plow without exploding.

Children found the grenade on the farm and sold it with some other scraps of G. C. Byrd, a junk dealer. He retrieved it as it was lying on the floor of his truck with heavy steel being loaded upon it.

The popular supposition is that the grenade was brought back from the war by some Posey county veteran who either lost or threw it away. Byrd destroyed it.

Boggers Too Collegiate

They declare the modern logger—often a university student or graduate—is too civilized for dramatic purposes.

There will be a meeting of the City Bowling League, Thursday, September 2, at 8 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for the approaching season.

President Emil Boessneck, acting as the leader of the circuit, for his first term expressed a strong desire to map out activities for a grand opening with plenty of competition.

"I hope to meet the captains of all the teams that competed last season, and all others interested in entering teams in the City League," he said in announcing the meeting.

Last season's teams were Lyceum, St. Peter's, Livingstons, Immanuel, Y. M. C. A., Central Hudson, Flanagan's, Downtown Merchants, Colonials and American Legion.

President Boessneck said he had been unofficially informed that several other clubs intend to enter teams in the league.

The City League is 10 years old; this fall will enter its 11th season.

For 10 years, Peter Keresman, local police officer, served as president and steered the league over a successful course. Pressing duties made it impossible for him to even think of accepting the nomination for the 11th time.

Patrolman Keresman is president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, secretary of the state organization of the police, and is actively engaged in the activities of several other organizations.

"Peter Keresman made a fine record in the City League," said President Boessneck, "and we intend to carry on the standards he set while he was head of it."

President Boessneck is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of bowling in Kingston, and has been all through the 10 years of the City League.

"I know of no bowler better qualified than President Boessneck to direct the City League," Officer Keresman told a sports writer, "and I think under his direction it will enjoy one of the most successful seasons since its inception."

Keresman will roll with the Colonials as usual, finding time from his many tasks to visit the alleys on pin nights, and will be right there in the interests of bowling just as when he bore the burdens of the president's job.

Sunday Schedule
Of Local Nines

Baseball teams of Kingston and vicinity are scheduled to play Sunday as follows:

At Schenectady—Colonials vs. Schenectady in night game.
Modena—Wilbur Dodgers vs. Modena Fire Department, 2:45 p. m.

At Stone Ridge—Clos A. C. of Kingston vs. Huron Indians, 2:30 p. m.
Wittenberg—Wittenberg vs. Woodstock at 2:30 p. m.

Louis and Farr
Ready for Monday

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Aug. 28 (AP)—Outwardly Joe Louis isn't at all disturbed by the postponement of his heavyweight title defense against Tommy Farr from last Thursday until Monday, but it would be hard to convince his sparring partners.

The champion tore into his hired hands more viciously than even when he resumed training yesterday and Pat Silvers got the worst of the bargain. Silvers stepped into one of Joe's Sunday punches and folded up like a timetable.

Otherwise Joe was cool and unfustered in a long drill, including roadwork, rope skipping and bag punching. He plans to repeat the program today and taper off tomorrow to keep his weight close to the 198 which he scaled officially Thursday. He was one pound above that mark yesterday.

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 28 (AP)—Tommy Farr is all square with Joe Louis in training-camp "sit-downs." Joe stumbled and fell to the canvas a week or so ago in the course of his training exercises. Tommy did it yesterday as he went to work again after his title bout with the Detroit negro had been postponed until Monday.

According to his own report, Tommy's feet became entangled in the loose ring canvas and he went sprawling when he tried to work loose and duck out of Abe Feldman's punches at the same time.

Some ringside observer claimed, however, that they had seen Feldman deliver a good wallop to the Welshman's chin just about the time he went down.

Tommy bounced back to his feet and tore savagely into Feldman for the remainder of the round. In all he boxed four rounds.

Farr plans to box four or five rounds more today and complete his program with light limbering exercises tomorrow.

Game Comment

The league-leading Comforters moved a step nearer the second half title last night as they turned back the Trinity Lutherans, 8-4. Up until the fifth inning it was either team's game. The Lutherans got to Hank Elgimey for two hits which coupled with three errors, produced a trio of runs in the first inning. The Comforters undered out three markers.

Vernon Smith, Lutheran hurler, in the first inning and the score remained deadlocked at 3-3 until the last of the fifth when the Reformers commenced their usual late inning bombardment, blasting in five runs. The Rev. C. P. Mayskens clouted a long triple for the best hit of the game. Hank Elgimey's appearance on the mound for the Comforters was rather a surprise since either Craig or Mayskens seemed certain of receiving the assignment, but the Comforter captain decided that it was time he did a little work himself. Next Tuesday the Comforters and Clinton Avenue will hook up in a duel with either Mayskens or Craig starting on the mound for the Reformers.

Glens Falls Open
Is Free for All

Glens Falls, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The $4,000 Glens Falls Open Golf Tournament turned into a free-for-all scramble today as Dark Horse Jack Patroni of Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., paced 150 closely bunched shotmakers into the second 18-hole round of medal play.

The leading Pennsylvanian, seventh in the 1935 event here, was two strokes in front of Handsome Jimmie Lee of Garden City, L. I., two-time winner, and bronze Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., erstwhile National Open and P. G. A. king.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., freshman Ryder Cup team member this year, and 21-year-old Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Texas, a newcomer, shared fourth place with sparkling 68's, while bracketed at 69 were Dan Galgano, White Plains; Ian Robertson, Tannersville, in the Catskills, and Leo Walper, Washington, D. C.

The veteran Willie MacFarlane, 1935 winner with a record 75-hole aggregate of 274, 14 under par, led a group knotted at 70 that includes Augie Nordone, Syracuse; Mike Turnesa, Elmsford; Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-on-Deleware; Harold Graham, Staten Island, and Horton Smith of Chicago, Mass., 1927 North and South Open winner.

The Dutches County Fair will open at Rhinebeck, Monday, August 30, and will continue through Friday, September 3.

This annual event has always been a great attraction for people of this vicinity and according to the program announced by the fair committee, this year's fair will present a top-notch program of exhibitions, entertainment and educational opportunities.

Special entertainment features have been arranged and many exhibits of fruits, vegetables and livestock will form a real county fair. Musical concerts will be presented each evening.

Smith Trims Mirable,
Emerson Beats Triola
Before Jammed House

EASTERN GOLFER IN SEMI-FINALS

Ray Billows (left), Poughkeepsie, N. Y., golf star, won his way to the semi-finals of the National Amateur tournament at Portland, Ore. He played Johnny Fischer (right) of Cincinnati for the right to play for the championship.

The boxing extravaganza of the Mayor's Industrial Committee, that drew more than 1,500 fans to the municipal auditorium Friday night, lightened the heart of Willie Smith, and made Buddy Emerson grin from ear to ear.

Smith, the international lightweight champion from New York, washed away all the discussion concerning his knockout at the hands of Frankie Mirable of Albany a month ago by administering a first class trimming to the champion of the Adirondack A.A.C. in five rounds, knocking him down for counts three times in the first round.

Emerson, the pride of St. Remy, was picked unanimously by the officials as the winner over Joe Triola, Albany scrapper, in the five round co-feature last night. The crowd split in its decision of the winner, however, and boos rang through the place when the verdict was announced. Last night's victory for Emerson was his second over Triola.

The supporting card gave the fans plenty of action, and the program was adjudged one of the most pleasing box bills ever put on at the auditorium.

Smith, one of the most sincere little scrappers in the amateurs, to whom defeat is a terrible stink, began at the sound of the gong to punish Mirable. Willie started to carry out his promise, "he won't get me this time," with a terrific left hook in the first minute of scrapping, sending Frankie to the canvas for nine.

That clout hurt the Albanian, who arose in a dazed condition and tried to dance away. Another left to the button bounced Mirable on the canvas for the second time, and an exchange in one of the corners marked his third trip to the floor.

Mirable ended hard in the second, and staggered Smith with a couple of looping rights to the midsection, but the international champ won the round by retaliating with that prize left of his, in the third, Smith floundered Mirable again, and from there on was so far out in front that there was no question about the decision.

"I hope I proved to the Kingston fans that Mirable's other win, that one by the knockout, was just a mistake, and that he caught me on guard," said the champion. "Mirable had little to say, except that he might have done better if it hadn't been for that long trip to Dallas, Texas, the night he took after running out once on the international champ.

"What are you squawking about," yelled Mirable at one of the committee in charge of arranging the bouts. "I'll beat any body you have around here—bring on Budd!" said the champion. "Emerson heard the crack and smiled. "Okay, I'll box him," said Emerson, "and if he fights like he did against Smith, I'll knock him out."

So the Mayor's Industrial Committee has something to ponder over, and this match may be presented shortly in the auditorium.

Emerson Wins
Last night, Emerson carried out his plan to stick close to Triola, belting him with short rights. The Albanian scrapper concentrated on Buddy's jaw, but couldn't land one with enough dynamite to dump the St. Remy boy.

Emerson took the lead early in the fight, and Triola tried to overcome it in the fourth and fifth. The Albanian shook Emerson with some terrific wallops at the beginning of the fifth, but wasn't strong enough to carry on at the pace he set, and hit the canvas once obviously from exhaustion.

That last round was one of the most thrilling ever witnessed in the Broadway Punch Bowl with both battlers falling away at each other, but lacking the power in their punches to end it.

Other results:
Joe Tantillo, 130, Highland outpointed Charley Roberts, 126, New York, five rounds.

Carmen Nemen, 142, New York, knocked out Gus Matello, 160, Albany, in 51 seconds of the fifth round.

Wall Lak, 150, Schenectady stopped Lou Genther, 150, Kingston, in the third round.

Charley "Horse" Decker, Albany won the special 15-minute wrestling exhibition, from William Lewis Schenectady.

Officials were Bill Singer, referee; Harris Brown and Lieut. R. B. Blakester, judges; Mori Fink, timekeeper; Samuel J. Riber, announcer.

Standing of Clubs
In Major Leagues

(By The Associated Press.)

Life an accident going some place to happen, or a guy falling off his horse, you never can tell what spot lane will pick out to land on.

That's not talking any of the credit from outwilder Freddy Frankhouse for the night, no-run game by which he checked his hat in the hall of fame yesterday. But, rated on the records, Freddy, who has kicked around the National League for eleven seasons without causing any wholesale laughing of teeth on the part of rival battlers, would certainly not be one of the ten or twenty pitchers you'd name as most likely to turn the trick. And, particularly, since he's working for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The same thing applied to Bill Blotch when he did it for the White Sox against the St. Louis Browns last on June 1, or to any number of the flunkers who have broken into the charmed circle. A lot of them didn't flunk to come within a country mile of the stunt. Like Dorth and Frankhouse, they were largely up-and-downers.

Yet, there it is in the record books today. Thirty-three-year-old Fred Frankhouse, with a record of 162 victories and 77 losses in tossing for the Cubs, Bees and Brooklyn since 1927, receives credit for a no-hit, no-run game. He walked six, and a seventh man drew a life on an error as he did the job against the Cincinnati Reds by a 5-0 margin.

To be sure, it was somewhat of a side-door entrance to the hall of fame, since the game was halted by rain with two men out in the eighth inning, but it's a regulation ball game nevertheless, and the stunt stands.

Frankhouse's feat took a chunk of the spotlight away from the National League fight, which seems to be going a long way and rapidly getting nowhere.

With the league-leading Cubs idle in Boston because of rain, the second-place Giants had a neat chance to close some of that two-game gap in their double bill with their favorite stooges, the Pittsburgh Pirates. But the best Bill Terry's Terriers could do was split even, thereby leaving things, strictly as they were. Dutch Brandt and Mac Brown of the Bees teamed up in a four-bitter to take the opener, 1-0, after which Lefty Al Smith supplied for a 3-2 Giant win in the nightcap.

The Phillies turned in the day's stunner when they plinned a double dose on the nose-diving Cardinals, 4-1 and 6-3, to climb into sixth place. It's been so long since they were there they didn't even know the old place.

The Yankees increased their American League lead to 11½ games with a 4-3 win over the Browns, largely through the cloutage of Lou Gehrig. The second-place Tigers were mauled, 8-5, by the Red Sox, despite Rudy York's seventh homer in seven days.

Pete Appleton's three-bitter gave the Senators a 5-0 shutout over the White Sox. The Indians, as usual, trimmed the Athletics, 5-3.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Wicky Harkins, 155, Philadelphia, outpointed Johnny Smith, Morris-town, N. J., (8); Gus Dorazio, 178½, Philadelphia, defeated Frankie Willis, 171½, Atlantic City, (8).

To Investigate Plane Accident

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Federal, state and county officials sought today an explanation of the airplane crash which yesterday snuffed out the lives of Assemblyman Philbrick H. Strong, 31, of Rochester, his wife, Margaret, 29, and two male companions.

While investigators poked about about the twisted wreckage of the legislator's private plane, which plunged down in an early morning fog scarcely a mile from the Albany airport, the bodies of the victims were being borne back to Rochester by train.

Those who pushed with Strong and his wife were Clarence Robinson, 33, of Rochester, the pilot, and Charles H. Johnson, 40, an investment counsel, also of Rochester.

Pending the outcome of the official inquiry, investigators refused to speculate as to the probable cause of the crash.

Soviet Behind Its Planned Quotas in Industry, Farming

Moscow, Aug. 28 (AP)—A broadening "purge" of Soviet officials and lowly peasants within the vast borders of Russia was reported today as the nation's production fell well behind 1937 quotas—evidence, authorities said, of sabotage, diversion and enemy spies.

With many parts of Russia "so conscious," records of death, disgrace, exile and imprisonment for enemies of the state have mounted in proportion to the failure of shops and factories to meet an ever-increasing demand for new materials.

Inspired by prominent Soviet newspaper accounts of skillful detection of spies and wreckers, men, women and children have become self-ordained detectives and almost any gesture may inspire someone's suspicious curiosity.

Soviet officials are silent, and only occasional press accounts enlighten the public on wholesale punishment meted out to the Soviet. Unfaithful. The known dead "enemies of the state" are counted in hundreds; the lesser offenders, who are in prison or exile or who are demoted, total thousands.

So closely watched are foreigners that few Russian dentists will treat them, so they go to Helsinki for dental care. Russian language teachers stopped visiting their foreign students a week ago. Other Russians hold aloof from all foreigners who might bring spies to their doors.

Y. L. Pyatakov, former vice-commissioner of heavy industry; L. P. Serberaykov, former vice-commissioner of railways, and 11 others have been tried and shot. Other officials and hundreds of small fry await trial as wreckers, diversions, traitors, Fascists and Trotskyists.

The fact that only 27 per cent of the year's schedule in brick-making was completed, excused building delays. Production here and in other fields continues to increase but falls to keep pace with ambitious Soviet programs.

The press reported that the Siberian lumber industry was "full of enemies of the people." Production for 1937 is short in cotton, textiles, machinery, steel, chemical fertilizing, coal and cement. The motor car turnout is below schedule.

Aside from reasons of wrecking, one publication cites as cause for lack of production the indifference of workers.

"Apparently," said the publication, for industry, "it takes two or three Russians to do the work of one American."

Light industry's own newspaper reported that at the end of the first half of the year this particular field was behind schedule to the amount of 26,000,000 pairs of shoes, 4,500,000 pairs of shoes, 7,000,000 suits of underwear, 32,000,000 pieces of clothing, 285,000,000 yards of cotton cloth and 76,000,000 spools of thread.

Edmund L. Cain, of Huntington, Pa., a cousin of the deceased, while the Rev. William H. Kennedy and the Rev. James P. Moore were seated within the chancel. Friday evening at 8 o'clock the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's, of which deceased was an ardent member, visited the home and was led in the recitation of the Rosary by the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth, and a delegation attended the funeral Mass and acted as an honorary escort. The children's choir sang the responses during the Mass. At the offertory Thomas Dolan rendered "O Salutaris" and at the conclusion of the Mass sang "Ave Maria." There was a number of beautiful floral offerings from a host of sorrowing relatives and friends, together with spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, which were placed near the casket, as the body reposed in the family home. The bearers were Gustave Kogel, Joseph Dempsey, Charles Dunne, Francis Noonan, —Advertisement.

Local Death Record

New Paltz, Aug. 28.—David W. Minard, 85, of Poughkeepsie, died Wednesday, August 25, after a long illness in Vassar Hospital. He was a native of New Paltz, where he lived for many years. He spent the past 27 years in Poughkeepsie. He was a member of the Friends Church. The survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mary Van Nostrand, and a daughter, Mrs. John Minard, of New Paltz. The funeral was held Friday from his home with Pastor William J. Ryan, of the Oakwood school faculty, officiating. Burial was in the family plot in the New Paltz Cemetery.

Maxie Gordon's Widow Murdered

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The body of the comely young woman found stuffed in a barrel on rocks beside East River here yesterday, was identified today as that of Mrs. Maxie Gordon, widow of Max (One-eyed Maxie) Gordon, notorious narcotics peddler.

Gordon was killed in an automobile accident near El Paso, Tex., last July 31. He had served one prison term after being convicted on a narcotics charge in Boston.

Benjamin Joseph, a friend and guest at the same hotel where Mrs. Gordon resided in New York, led to the identification of the body today.

After reading a description of it in the newspapers, he prevailed upon the night manager of the hotel to enter her room. They found that the bed had not been occupied. Joseph then viewed the body and identified it.

Joseph, according to police, said he had an engagement with Mrs. Gordon for Thursday night, but that he was "stood up." He said he did not see the woman after that.

Detective William Jackson, of the homicide squad, made the investigation which determined that Mrs. Gordon was the widow of "One-eyed Maxie."

He said he also had learned that she had been twice married, the first time to Isadore Mustman, a Boston butcher. A mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Goldberg, lives in law, Mrs. Rose Goldberg, lives in law, Mrs. Rose Goldberg, lives in law.

Medical Examiner Jacob Werne said she had been stabbed nine times, with an ice pick. The point of the instrument was imbedded in her skull and a bullet was found in her brain.
